

NERVA Energy is the NORTH AMERICAN GOLD STANDARD for Public Sector REME Active Air Purification Implementation.

REME Technology has the ability to significantly improve indoor air-quality and mitigate the spread of COVID-19, however, proper implementation of this technology requires careful consideration, meticulous planning and professional expertise.

NERVA's business model is based on the supply, engineering and installation of REME Active Air Purification. We provide certified technicians, verified system performance and the most comprehensive warranty on the market.

We understand that the mechanical infrastructure for every building is different, thus each facility requires a unique engineering plan to ensure proper ionization levels are met for every room/space. Beware of unqualified technicians who offer supply only services, with no warranty or performance validation.

MITIGATING INVESTMENT RISK

The manufacturer of this technology has a proven track record of over 4-million installations in more than 60 countries.

NERVA Energy and the Cleaner Air Program has been delivering information, education and awareness to the public sector for over a year, in order to provide safer-cleaner air to safeguard the health of students, teachers, and staff.
